

have lots of fun," said Sara.
"First, let's go slime sliding at the hill," said Sara. "Won't you get your shell dirty?" asked Carrie. "We'll go swimming after," said Sara. The three snails scooted their way to the hill.
"I'll go first!" yelled Sara. She let out slime and down she slid. "Whee! This is fun. Who's next?" "I'll go," said Linda. She let out slime and down she slid. Last, Carrie went. "This dirt feels gross." She screamed all the way down.
"There's a new leaf pool around the corner," said Sara. "Follow me." The three snails found the pool and climbed in. "This is nice," said Carrie. "See, I'm all clean," said Sara. "I could stay here forever," said Linda. "Time's up. I'll race you back to my

house,” said Sara. The three snails crawled as fast as they could.
Sara was first. “Mmm, what are you making, Mum?” “We’re having lettuce salad. Pull up and start munching.” “This is yummy,” said Linda. “Yes, thank you,” said Carrie.
“Before we go to bed,” said Sara, “let’s sing. I have a new karaoke machine.” Sara started singing and dancing. Her eyes went back and forth with the beat. “Let me try,” said Carrie. She sang into the microphone and spun on her shell. “We can call ourselves the Snail Sisters,” said Linda.
“I’m tired,” said Sara. “Let’s sleep.” She got some leaf blankets for herself and her friends. “Does anyone want to hear a scary frog story?” Linda asked.

"No way!" said Sara and Carrie. "Then I'll see you in three days. I sleep a long time," said Sara.
"We do, too," said Carrie and Linda. "Goodnight!"
